DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Claims

Claims 1, 10, 12, 15, 18, 23, 27, and 28 have been amended. Claims 1-6, 9-12, 14-16, 18, 20, 23, 27, and 28 are pending. Any rejection or objection not specifically repeated has been withdrawn. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Applicant asserts the entitlement to the consideration of additional species with respect to variable "R" and variable "X" upon allowance of the species wherein "R" is a saccharide, and "X" is carbon. This is noted. However, at this time the examination remains limited to the original species election.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Claims 1-5, 10-12, 14-16, 23, 27 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Unverzagt et al (Carbohydr. Res., 1994).

Upon reconsideration of the art of record, it is noted that Unverzagt discloses multivalent glycopeptides consistent in structure with formula I. See Table 1, compounds 3a, b, c. It is noted that the unglycosylated peptide precursor is also consistent with the formula recited in claim 23, which requires no non-hydrogen R-groups. The reference is silent regarding any aggregation of these compounds. However, the compounds are consistent in structure with the recited structural formula and would necessarily have the same physical properties. Since the Office does not have the facilities for preparing the claimed materials and comparing them with prior art inventions, the burden is on Applicant to show a novel or unobvious difference between the claimed product and the product of the prior art. See In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 195 USPQ 430 (CCPA 1977) and In re Fitzgerald, 619 F.2d 67, 205 USPQ 594 (CCPA 1980).

Art Unit: 1623

Regarding claims 14 and 15, these claims simply recite manipulations, such as pH change, that occur in the normal synthesis and work-up of synthetic compounds.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 1-5, 10-12, 14-16, 18, 20, 23, 27 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Unverzagt et al (Carbohydr. Res., 1994).

Unverzagt teaches as set forth above. The reference further teaches that these compounds inhibit the binding of influenza virus to cells. The reference specifically suggests but does not disclose treatment of influenza.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to administer the disclosed compounds for the treatment of influenza. One of ordinary skill would reasonably expect success in using the compounds in this method because the reference had taught that the compounds inhibit binding of the influenza virus.

Claims 1-5, 10-12, 14-16, 18, 20, 23, 27 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Unverzagt et al (Carbohydr. Res., 1994) in view of Mammen et al (Angew. Chem. Int. Ed., 1998).

Unverzagt teaches as set forth above. The reference does not teach the full range of saccharide "R" groups or the treatment of the full range of diseases recited.

Art Unit: 1623

The use of multivalent saccharide compounds for the treatment of a variety of diseases is known in the art, as reviewed by Mammen. See particularly the tables in the reference.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the compounds of Unverzagt by the substitution of the saccharide moieties for others known to be useful in the art, as discussed in Mammen. It would be further obvious to use these compounds for the treatment of a variety of diseases, such as those discussed in Mammen. The artisan would reasonably expect success in such modifications of Unverzagt based on the state of the art, as discussed in Mammen.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 9 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Claim 6 is also objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim to the extent that "X" and "R" are currently limited as discussed above.
